EXPECT LARGE FRESHMAN CLASS

This Year's Incoming Class at College will Surpass All Former Records. Many Coming from Nearby Cities. Athletic Material.

The canvass for new students which has been going on for some weeks under the direction of the college authorities has reached the stage now where no question remains over the enrollment in the Freshman class passing the hundred mark. Last year, the best in the history of the institution, the class numbered ninety five.

The boys will come from the usual territory. York, Hanover and Harrisburg will contribute a good proportion while the eastern section of the state will send its usual quota. Other portions of Pennsylvania, Maryland and nearby states will add a number and the class will enter as a record-breaking one. The other classes will also receive additions and the indications now are all of the brightest sort.

In the incoming class will be a quantity of good foot ball and other athletic team material so that the losses by graduation this year are expected to be more than met and good teams may be looked for at the school.

The canvass for new men is being continued daily and new additions are being received steadily. Rev. S. F.
Snyder, assistant to the president, is out in the field at this work constantly and President Granville and Prof.
Charles H. Huber are devoting much of their time to the same work. The number of students in the Preparatory will be up to the average.

SMALL RETURNS

When Waiters Fail to Produce, High-waymen Give Punishment.

A night or two ago, three fellows held up two waiters on the Blue Mountain House path, near the hotel, and demanded their money. What little coin the waiters had was transferred to the greedy hands of the robbers but it proved so small and so disappointing that the thieves were angry and took effective means to show it.
They stood the waiters in a row in front of them and then kicked them until the frightened waiters recovered enough of their senses to make their escape.

MANY PLAN FOR SUMMER OUTINGS

Gettysburg's Camping Clubs Plan for Annual Outings along Streams or in the Mountains. One Party to Take Houseboat Trip.

Hot summer days have put the camping spirit into the people of Gettysburg and many crowds are making their preparations for outings during the coming weeks, while some families have already gone to the nearby streams or mountains for relief from the heat and to enjoy outdoor life.

The Gettysburg young people who last year enjoyed a houseboat party on the Chesapeake and Ohio canal will repeat the event again this year and will leave for their trip on August 11.
Last year the route lay from Williamsport to Cumberland. This year the boat will take them from Williamsport to Washington, D. C. The trip is said to be one of the best forms of summer diversion and a delightful time is anticipated.

Camp Welcome will be established at Knoxlyn on August 11. This camp is probably one of the oldest in the county and has been in existence for many years. The same site will be chosen as formerly and the active members of the party will be visited by many of those who camped at the same place in years previous.

The Masonic Camp at Reeks' along the Monocacy will be opened on Thursday, August 7. The advantages of this place are well known and now the Camping Club is having erected a cottage for the use of those who prefer to live in a house rather than in tents and also for those who enjoy going to the grounds outside of the usual camping season.

Kamp Kill Kare, which has established itself at Table Rock for several years past, will again be at that place this year. They will open for operations on August 19. The party is composed of a number of the younger set of town who always have ten days of unalloyed bliss while under canvas.

On Friday of this week a large number of the young men of town, home from various schools and colleges, will go into camp along the Big Conewago at Dicks' Dam. They will be known as Camp Sing Sing, whether from their vocal abilities, or in view of recent disturbances at another resort of the same name, is not stated.

Camp Knottmann, which enjoyed two weeks near Caledonia last year, where they occupied Fern Hill Cottage, may go to Pen Mar for a similar outing, though no definite plans have been made. As the name implies, the party is composed entirely of young ladies.

Some of the boys who participated in the Boy Scout camp at Boiling Springs last year are contemplating a similar trip to the same place in August. There will be no official Boy Scout camp this summer and the Boiling Springs outfit will be an independent affair with many of the members not Scouts.

Of those who are now out the Rupp family are encamped at Black Hole along Marsh Creek. The Gettysburg members of the family have been joined by Robert M. Rupp and family of Hagerstown and a very successful camping party has been the result.

P. W. Stallsmith and family occupy a cottage at Caledonia Park where they expect to remain for a week or more enjoying the pretty scenery and the amusements which Graffenburg Hills afford.

The Presbyterian Boys' Club under the direction of Rev. F. E. Taylor and Dr. C. B. Stouffer report great happiness at Natural Dam where fishing and swimming are indulged in to the great delight of all.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Keet and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bruner, with a number of friends will return on Thursday from a camping trip of several weeks at Pearce, Maryland.

Samuel Hartzell with several friends will go to Rothhaupt's Mill for a camping trip of several days the latter part of this week.

SLIGHT INJURY CAUSED DEATH

Edward A. Rider Contracted Gangrene and Lock Jaw from Slight Wound on the Leg. Death Follows the Injury.

Edward Augustus Rider died at his late home in McSherrystown Monday, from gangrene and lockjaw, after an illness of about two weeks.

He received a slight bruise on one of his knees while at work two weeks ago, and gangrene developed in the limb, which proved fatal. He was aged 71 years, 8 months and 23 days.

Mr. Rider was a son of the late John Rider and wife of White Hall.
His early life was spent on the farm, later moving to McSherrystown, where for fifteen years he was foreman in the former Charles H. Busbey cigar factory. Since the closing of this factory some years ago, he was working at various places as a laborer.

He married Miss Catharine Kuhn, of White Hall, 48 years ago, who survives, together with the following children—Sylvester Rider, Mrs. I. B.
Kuhn, Mrs. R. J. Fuchs and Francis X. Rider, of McSherrystown; William Rider, of Philadelphia; and Edward Rider, of Irishtown. He also leaves the following sisters, Mrs. Johanna Rider, Littlestown; Mrs. Louise Wag-aman, McSherrystown and Mrs. Mary Hemler, Midway; and half-sisters Mrs. Anna Adams, York, Miss Ellen Rider and Mrs. F. J. Miller, Bonneauville, Frank Rider, Hanover, and Jacob and Thomas Rider, of York, are half-brothers of the deceased. There are 34 grandchildren.

Funeral, Thursday, July 31, requiem high mass at 9 a. m., in St.
Mary's church, McSherrystown, Rev.
L. Aug. Reudter officiating. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery.

still being installed at about 15 different points. Work on the new improvement was gotten under way in May and has progressed ever since without delay. The completion of the sidings will be the means of facilitating the movement of traffic over the busy portion of the Western Maryland system, between Hagerstown and Cumberland.

NO STREET LIGHTS

Drought Affects Neighboring Town in Peculiar Way.

Thurmont is without street lights at night, and has been for about two weeks, due to the low water of Hunting Creek. Thurmont owns its electric plant, and lights its streets and sells current for house lighting. During the two weeks there have been no street lights at night, although the houses are supplied with light until about 11 o'clock each night. With the drought continuing much longer, it is feared that the private lighting, too, will have to be stopped, as the plant is operated exclusively by water power.

MR. REDDIG ILL

Shippensburgh Merchant Taken Suddenly Ill at his Home.

Clarence Reddig, the well known merchant of Shippensburg, left his store Monday afternoon about 3:00 saying he was going home to bed as he felt ill. Soon after, somebody tried to call him from the store by phone, but could get no answer. This caused surprise, as Mr. Reddig has a telephone by his bed. Friends then went to his home and found him unconscious. He is still in a serious condition.

MUST DESTROY EGGS

Gettysburg Groceries Must Treat Bad Eggs with Coal Oil.

Pure Food Commissioner Foust has addressed a communication to egg dealers throughout the state calling their attention to the fact that by a law passed in the last legislative session dealers must not keep eggs that are unfit for food, but must break the shells and then denature them with a kerosene bath, which effectually destroys them. A penalty of a stiff fine follows a violation of the act, and Commissioner Foust says he issues the warning to prevent dealers from getting into trouble by the neglect of a very simple precaution.

HUERTA ORDERS AMERICANS FREED

Court Martial For Men Who Shot U. S. Agent.

SPURRED BY WILSON'S NOTE

Vigorous Protest of Our Government Pleases American Residents, Who Say It Had Good Effect.

Mexico City, Mex., July 30.—President Huerta and the Mexican people have shown a sudden change of spirit toward the United States.

The cause of this change is undoubtedly the peremptory message which President Wilson ordered communicated to the Mexican government touching redress for the shooting of Charles B. Dixon, United States immigration agent at Juarez, and requiring the release of two American prisoners.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires, received from Washington a note couched in terms that are decidedly peremptory, demanding the court martial and immediate punishment of the federal soldiers who shot immigration agent Dixon; also the release forthwith of McDonald and Bissell, United States citizens, whom Pascual Orozco recently captured and condemned to death.

O'Shaughnessy lost no time in calling on President Huerta and laying the American government's demands before him. Huerta at once promised the immediate release of McDonald and Bissell, as well as the summary punishment of the shooters of Dixon.

The results of O'Shaughnessy's visit were instantaneous. No sooner had the American charge d'affaires left the National Palace than President Huerta summoned his foreign minister and directed him to take the necessary steps to comply with the demands of the United States.

Within a short time the foreign minister had received a telegram from the authorities in Ciudad Juarez, saying that the most energetic investigation was being made into the shooting of Dixon.

According to the information from Juarez, Dixon's assailants are two negroes, supposedly Americans, and a third man, who is a Texas Mexican. This does not agree with the accounts from El Paso, the city across the Rio Grande from Juarez, in which the shooting is charged to Mexican federals. These men are probably under arrest by now, if the life that President Huerta has injected into affairs in Mexico City has had any effect in Juarez.

The vigorous protest of the American government has had a good effect and American residents in Mexico City regret that similar action was not taken long ago. A disposition to hold Mexico strictly to account, they say, would have done much toward pacification.

HUERTA MAY RESIGN

Leading Mexicans Trying to Bring About Peace.

Washington, July 30.—Henry Lane Wilson, American ambassador to Mexico, resumed his conferences with Secretary of State Bryan on the Mexican situation.

Mr. Wilson had expected to leave Washington, but remained at the request of the secretary to continue his extended report of conditions in the southern republic.

Ambassador Wilson, it was learned, will appear before the senate foreign relations committee to give his views on conditions in Mexico.

President Wilson had no announcement to make about the policy the United States would pursue toward Mexico, but there is every reason to believe no steps will be taken by this country pending the outcome of the plans being laid by leading Mexicans to bring about peace.

The fact that some of the Mexicans interested in adjusting the differences between the followers of Huerta and Carranza were instrumental in persuading Porfirio Diaz to resign as president, is encouraging officials in touch with Mexican affairs to believe that their efforts may bring about the resignation of Huerta.

The arguments the Mexicans are said to be planning to place before Huerta is that the United States in no circumstances will recognize his regime and that to extricate Mexico from its financial straits, it is necessary to establish a new administration and obtain the recognition of the American government.

If President Huerta were willing to step down and out, men acceptable to him as well as the Constitutionalists have been tentatively selected from whom a successor would be named.

Kills Sister as Burglar.

Elberton, Ga., July 30.—Believing he was firing upon a burglar, Mack Guest emptied a revolver at his seventeen-year-old sister here. Mortally wounded, the girl staggered toward him, exclaiming that a bolt of lightning had struck her. She died before medical aid could be summoned.

Marvin For Weather Chief.

Washington, July 30.—Professor Charles F. Marvin, head of the instrument division of the weather bureau, was named as chief of that bureau, vice Willis L. Moore, discharged. Marvin is a native of Columbus, O., but has been a resident of Washington for a number of years.

MEXICANS IN ACTION.

This is the kind of warfare that is being carried on just across the border of the United States. Many bullets from the rifles of both sides of the fray fall on American soil and sometimes hit American citizens. It is to keep the bellicose on their own ground that Uncle Sam is maintaining a small army along the Mexican boundary.

$75,000 HARRIMAN GEMS ARE STOLEN

Thieves Loot Narragansett Home of Mrs. Rumsey.

New York, July 30.—Gems valued at $75,000, including a rope of pearls worth $60,000, were stolen from the home of C. C. Rumsey at Narragansett Pier, R. I. Mrs. Rumsey was a daughter of the late E. H. Harriman.

The pearls were given to Mrs. Rumsey by her mother and had a sentimental value far in excess of their intrinsic worth. Other jewels, according to a statement issued at the office of the Harriman estate, include the following: Ruby and pearl pendant, gold pin set with magnificent ruby solitaire, diamond brooch, gold mesh bag.

Only the contents of one room, that usually occupied by Mrs. Rumsey, were disturbed.

How the thief entered the house, whether Mrs. Rumsey was at home at the time and other details of the robbery were lacking.

Mr. Tegetoff, secretary of the late E. H. Harriman, who made the announcement, said private detectives were working on the case and would handle it independently of the police.

New Jersey Health Board Says They Are Fit For Consumption.

Trenton, N. J., July 30.—The state board of health released for sale from cold storage 329 thirty-pound cans of broken frozen eggs, which have been in cold storage for nearly three years.

The board says the eggs are fit for human consumption. The case has been before the supreme court of the United States, which pronounced the eggs edible.

The state board of health will require the owners to label the eggs so that the purchasers of them may know how long the egg product has been in storage.

SAY WIG CAUSED DEATH

Physicians Found Blood Vessels of Head Ruptured by Heat.

Lewistown, Pa., July 30.—A heavy toupee, worn because his natural hair had been lost through illness, probably caused the death of O. B. Swanner, of Mifflin, a Pennsylvania railroad track hand, who was overcome by the heat while at work along the tracks near Lewistown.

Physicians called to attend Swanner found that blood vessels of the head had been ruptured, and to the warm wig they attribute his death.

ATTEBURY IS ARBITRATOR

P. R. O. Official to Represent Eastern Roads in Trainmen's Controversy.

New York, July 30.—W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and A. H. Smith, vice president of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad company, were appointed by forty-two eastern railroads as arbitrators to represent them in proceedings to settle the trainmen's demands under the Newlands act amendment to the Erdman act.

Shoots at Dog; Hits Man.

Hamonton, N. J., July 30.—Harry Brown, forty years old, was shot in front of his home, presumably by Antonio Berenato. A companion of Berenato, who was arrested by Officers Myers and Small, says that Brown's dog attacked Berenato while the latter was on a wheel. Berenato then shot at the dog, the bullet entering Brown's shoulder.

WEDDING GUESTS GET TYPHOID

Bridegroom, Bride and Nineteen Others Stricken.

ALL PARTOOK OF WATERCRESS

Married Couple Is Stricken In Maine, and Many Others While on Their Vacations.

Philadelphia, July 30.—As the result, it is believed, of eating germ-laden watercress, which was used to garnish the food served at a wedding breakfast nineteen guests who attended the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Burt, 1234 South Fifty-first street, and Jack Winchell, of New York, on June 24, are suffering from a malignant form of typhoid fever.

Simultaneously with the report that the bride and bridegroom had been stricken with the malady at Brunswick, Me., where they had gone on their honeymoon, a number of cases were reported to Dr. A. A. Cairns, chief medical inspector of the bureau of health.

An investigation was started at once, and it was learned that in every instance the patient had attended the wedding at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Burt.

Among those now seriously ill are: Miss Frances W. Varrell, daughter of Dr. F. M. Varrell, Swarthmore; Mrs. James L. Burt, mother of Mrs. Winchell, who is also at Brunswick, Me.; Miss Roselyn Underhill, Lansdowne; Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Garrett and their son, Nicholson, nine years old, Swarthmore; Lindon Burt and Miss Pauline Burt, cousins of the bride; the Misses Monaghan, daughters of James Monaghan; Miss Gardner, a daughter of Dr. Gardner, Germantown.

Many of those who attended the wedding were stricken while on their vacations.

The condition of the bridegroom is considered serious, but all the other patients are believed to be suffering from light attacks. Those who attended the wedding who have not been stricken have been inoculated in an effort to ward off a possible attack of the disease.

The source of every article of food served at the wedding breakfast has been traced by Dr. Cairns. Samples of some of the food have been obtained and bacteriological tests are being made. Letters have been addressed to all the guests to ascertain just what articles on the menu were eaten by them. Six have not replied.

Dr. Cairns is satisfied that the typhoid was contracted at the wedding. He says that the fact that so many who attended have contracted the disease could hardly be a coincidence, and while he has not said definitely what article of food it was that contained the bacteria, he is of the opinion that it was the watercress.

The Burt family does not hold the caterer responsible for the disease. It is believed that the watercress was probably obtained near some stream which harbored the bacteria.

None of those stricken is considered dangerously ill. It was reported that the condition of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett and their son, of Swarthmore, is somewhat improved.

About sixty guests attended the Winchell-Burt wedding, all of whom partook of the breakfast. It was two weeks later when the first cases of typhoid developed.

MERCHANT VICTIM OF THUG

New York Visitor Is Found in Stupor in Wholesale District.

New York, July 30.—Evidently a victim of a highwayman's assault, Frederick Wells, a wealthy merchant of Minneapolis, was found lying on the sidewalk in the lowest West Side wholesale district. He was hatless and coatless.

Wells had been stopping at the Waldorf-Astoria with his twelve-year-old son, Thomas. He attended an evening theatrical performance with his brother, Thomas B. Wells. After the performance the brother left for his Connecticut home and Wells started to return to his home. How he got down to the district where he was found is a mystery.

Wells' son said that his father returned to the hotel and was still there when the son fell asleep. Wells' watch and other jewelry and cash which he carried were missing.

A Chinese Umbrella

By REGINALD D. HAVEN

I was dining the other day with my friend Alan Bonbright. Mrs. Bonbright is the daughter of a missionary whose field was in China, and she had spent most of her girlhood there. Her husband had been to China on business, met her there and brought her home with him as his wife.

Mrs. Bonbright, a girl at this time was with her father at his missionary station in the province of Shantung. After dinner I was taken to a room where a collection of souvenirs of the Flowery Kingdom was kept. Among them was an umbrella made of bamboo wood and paper, covered with the customary pictures of men and women, birds and flowers. Across it when expanded were Chinese characters which, of course, I could not read. Bonbright directed my attention to the umbrella, and Mrs. Bonbright said, "If you're going to tell that story I'll go elsewhere." She went out with a look indicating that I was about to hear something unpleasant.

"You know," said Bonbright, "that China is full of persons who live by highway robbery. They cut off their heads whenever they capture them but this doesn't seem to deter others for life is cheap there and only the better classes care much about their own or others' terrestrial existence. Well one day I was traveling on horseback through the province of Shantung. I had no mind to be set upon by the highwaymen and had armed myself. There is not much fight in even the robbers in China unless they have every advantage, and I didn't feel in much danger so long as I could defend myself.

"I was not attacked myself, but, hearing a shouting ahead of me, I pressed forward and found a Chinaman in the dress of a mandarin being set upon by a gang of robbers. I fired shots at them, and they left their prey in a sorry plight and took to their heels. I picked him up and set him to rights. I had come up just in time to save his pocketbook, and he offered me a portion of its contents as a reward. This, of course, I declined, whereupon he talked his thanks—so I supposed for I did not understand a word he said. Just before I left him he took a writing stick and wrote those characters you see there on the umbrella and gave it to me. There was nothing to do but accept it, and as the day was hot I used it.

"Every Chinaman I met looked at the umbrella, then at me, and their indifference was at once turned to reverence. Some of them stopped and saluted as I passed. I wondered if they mistook me for the governor of a province or an executioner. Singularly enough, I didn't catch on to the fact that it was the umbrella that was drawing forth such respect.

"I stopped that night at the missionary station presided over by my wife's father and found them in great trouble. They had got wind through some of the Christian natives, servants and others attached to the mission of the Boxer movement that was about to break forth. My wife was then a girl of nineteen and the oldest of a family of seven. The converts were in a terrible state of fear, which naturally communicated itself to the white family.

"Drowning persons will cling to straw, and this family clung to me. True, I was only one man, but I was well armed, and even one man might be of some protection. I suppose I would have remained anyway, but I could not leave the girl who struck my fancy. When she looked appealingly at me with those blue eyes of hers I could not resist and said I would remain with them till the trouble was over.

"Remembering how easily I had put to flight the robbers, I really thought that with my two revolvers and some fifty cartridges I would be a protection, but when I heard the shrieks of the Christian converts as the crowd approached the mission house I didn't like the prospect. The yells of the brutes who were murdering them were equally appalling. What could I do against an infuriated mob?

"However, I stationed myself at an upper window, laying my ammunition and extra pistols beside me. I called upon Ethel to stay beside me and lead them for me as fast as I fired, and she nerved herself to do so. I put my head out and, seeing the mob coming reeking with blood, my heart sank. Wishing something to conceal me from them, I took up the umbrella the mandarin had given me, opened it, fixed it before me at the window and poked holes through it so that I could see where to fire.

"The mob had broken into the next house and killed every one there, then was ready to storm the mission. Al ready an ax had fallen on the door below me when I saw a man look at my umbrella and become much excited. He ran forward, then back with the man who wielded the ax. A knot of rioters gathered, all looking at the umbrella. Not another blow was struck. I did not need to fire a single shot. The mob seemed disappointed, but passed on.

"As soon as it had gone I withdrew the umbrella. Ethel, who could read Chinese as well as English, clasped her hands, raised her eyes to heaven and gave thanks. Then she interpreted the characters to me. It was an order from the greatest mandarin in the province to 'respect this man and all that belongs to him.'

DELAWARE'S HEAD

F. C. Bancroft of Wyoming, Del., New State Master.

He is Proprietor of Evergreen Farm, is Vice President of the First National Bk of Wyoming and is Prominent in Masonic Circles.

The new master of the Delaware state grange, who recently entered upon his duties as the successor of S.
H. Messick, is F. C. Bancroft of Wyoming, in that state. His father was a Delaware state master before him, and the senior Bancroft, with his wife, went to New Jersey from central New York in 1890 and started small fruit growing on what is a part of the present Bancroft farm. A fine dairy of Jersey cattle was later added, and the place now bears the name of Evergreen farm, one of the most prosperous in that section.

The older Bancroft and his wife were charter members of Fruitland grange, and this the present state master joined when he was seventeen years old.
Since then he has served almost continuously in some capacity, from gatekeeper to master. At the present time he is treasurer, and Mrs. Bancroft is lecturer. Mr. Bancroft has also served as master of the Pomona grange for three terms and as president of the Pennsylvania Horticultural society. Mr.

Bancroft is an active member of the Masonic fraternity and is the present master of Union lodge, located in Dover, the capital of the state.

Mr. Bancroft is vice president of the First National bank of Wyoming and interested in other business enterprises.
Nearly twenty years ago the planting of apple trees was started extensively on Evergreen farm, and apple growing is now Mr. Bancroft's specialty.

Byron's Burned Memoirs.

All lovers of Byron are aware that this erratic genius found time in his short, adventurous life to write his memoirs and that on his death these passed into the hands of his friend, Thomas Moore, who, exercising a discretion committed to him, promptly consigned the manuscript to the flames.
No doubt the writer of "Irish Melodies" had very good and highly proper reasons for taking this decisive step, and it is quite likely that the publication of the memoirs would not, for obvious reasons, have been possible for many years after the poet's death; yet as succeeding generations have been brought face to face with the peculiarly complex genius of Byron, with its lofty moods and its many dark places, they have felt need of the light which only the records written by a vanished hand could leave supplied.—Philadel-

BITTERLY ASSAILS WILSON IN DEBATE

Congressman Criticizes Course in White Slave Case.

HINTS AT POLITICAL PULL

Kahn Declares McNab Did Country a Service by Refusing to Be a Party to Delay of Trial.

Washington, July 30.—An agreement finally was reached in the house for a discussion of the Caminetti-Diggs white slave controversy, which was responsible for a Republican filibuster for the past ten days.

Five hours of debate was agreed on, with the time equally divided between the two sides of the chamber. Representative Kahn, of California, opened the debate with a bitter attack upon the administration for ordering a postponement of the white slave case.

Wary of the obstructive tactics, the Democrats had brought in a report from the judiciary committee on a resolution by Representative Kahn calling for a telegram from the attorney general, May 16, to McNab.

The committee report set forth that the attorney general had supplied a telegram, which read as follows:

"McNab, United States District Attorney, San Francisco, Cal.—Please write me fully concerning the charges against Caminetti and Diggs and take no affirmative action in respect of the same until you receive advices from me. Answer."

McREYNOLDS,

"Attorney General."

Accompanying the telegram was a memorandum showing that it was sent by the attorney general personally on the evening of May 16.

Mr. Kahn pointed out that the telegram holding up the trials was sent more than a month before Secretary Wilson asked the attorney general for delay. "Why was this telegram sent from his hotel?" he demanded. "Did some one call upon the attorney general at his hotel and try to exert insidious political pull in having the cases postponed?"

"It was evidently necessary to whitewash the action of the attorney general," said Kahn, discussing President Wilson's action in the case. "Why the president saw fit to scold and censure McNab and at the same time adopted his policy of proceeding promptly with the cases passes all comprehension. If McNab did right in insisting on the early trial of these cases—and both the president and the attorney general now adopt his views and insist that the cases must be tried promptly and at an early date—why should McNab have been censured? If insidious political pull was being successfully used to cause the attorney general to order a postponement of the cases, why should the censure not have fallen upon the shoulders of the attorney general?"

"It has long been believed by the masses that there is one kind of law for the rich and the politically powerful in this country and another kind of law for the poor and weak. The action of the department in the Diggs-Caminetti cases and the Western Fuel company cases would seem to stamp these charges as true."

"McNab did the country a signal service when he refused to be a party to a program that would have given verisimilitude to the statement that Diggs, Caminetti and the Western Fuel company directors, being rich or politically powerful, could secure delay and thus possibly defeat justice."

Representative McKeller, of Tennessee, one of the Democrats who steadfastly opposed discussion of the case, characterized Mr. Kahn's speech as a "political harangue," and declared:

"Every member is disappointed by the failure of the gentleman from California to produce that exposure which we all expected." The house was wasting time spending five hours discussing so "inconsequential a matter of petty politics," he declared.

SHOT TO DEATH NEAR 'LITTLE WHITE HOUSE'

Revolver is Found in Victim's Hand at Sea Girt.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 30.—Within a few hundred yards of the "Little White House," where President Wilson received notification of his nomination and election, the body of George R. Harris, a stenographer, of Danbury, Conn., was discovered by two residents of Sea Girt.

There were bullet holes in the head and left hand and in the knee. A 22-caliber revolver, partly loaded, had been placed loosely in the right hand.
A short distance from the body an empty pocketbook was found. Coroner Bennett, of Belmar, said that in his opinion it was not a case of suicide.
He believes that Harris was shot and robbed, and that his assailant then placed the revolver in his hand.

Harris had been spending his vacation in the boarding house of Mrs. David W. Robinson at Spring Lake. It was told at the boarding house that he had told other boarders that he was a widower with no living relatives.

The place where the body was discovered was on the edge of the state encampment ground. Harvey Blakey and George Roberts came upon it in a ramble.

The "Little White House" is now occupied by Governor Fielder, of New Jersey.

A table which sold for $4.75 was so large that it could not be taken out through the door without being taken apart.

When one of the legs was removed two rolls of greenbacks fell to the floor. The rolls contained more than $200, and were discovered by a son, William Hall, who resides next door.

Hall was a hard working man and thrifty. He had considerable property, but grew melancholy and ended his life while grieving for his dead wife.

CURRENCY MAY RETARD TARIFF

Republicans Not to Rush if Money Bill is Taken Up.

Washington, July 30.—Republican senators made it clear that they do not propose to hasten consideration of the tariff bill if the president and Democratic leaders of congress are going to insist upon the enactment of currency legislation at this session.

Senator Gallinger said the Republicans were in no temper to be forced, and Senator Lodge insisted that assurances of a prolonged hot summer session would not be conducive to hastening tariff action.

Discussion on this point arose when Senator Gallinger sought information as to the intent of the Democrats. Senator Simmons said he hoped that the Republicans were not making threats purposely to delay passage of the tariff, which all business interests wanted settled speedily.

Republican senators assured him that they were making no threats, but that it was bound to follow that there would be no haste with the tariff unless a nearly adjournment should be the inducement therefor.

Senator Gallinger said that reading in the newspapers every day that the president would insist on holding congress to enact currency legislation would not speed up action on the tariff. Senator Lodge added that it was most unwise to demand action on such important legislation as the currency of a "tired-out congress."

BULGARIAN CAPITAL CUT OFF

Servins Hold All Roads and Famine Threatens.

Berlin, July 30.—Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, is completely cut off, according to a dispatch received from Belgrade in this city.

The Serbian troops invading the city have cut all railroad communications, thus threatening the Bulgarian troops as well as the inhabitants with famine.

Dispatches from Bucharest told of the arrival of all the peace delegates representing the Balkan States. Nothing definite has been agreed upon, though, and in the meantime fighting continues.

Utilizing the recently captured Kresna Pass, the Greeks occupied Sametli and thus placed the Bulgarians in a dangerous position.

The Turks continue to occupy the towns they took, but so far as reported have made no advances this week.

his room, seventy-five feet down a light shaft, and crashed through a skylight. He was a Pittsburgh business man.

HE CAUGHT THE KHEDIVE.

A Breezy American Who Made the Most of His Opportunity.

When E. Alexander Powell was the consular representative of the United States at Alexandria he received a call one morning from the president of an American concern engaged in the manufacture of agricultural and well drilling machinery. This man explained that he was passing through Egypt and asked if it would be possible to obtain an audience with the khedive. In "The Last Frontier" Mr. Powell gives an amusing account of the interview.

Agriculture and its attendant problems of irrigation and fertilization constitute the sole hobby and amusement of the khedive. He is consequently a ready and liberal purchaser of all improved types of agricultural machinery, which he puts to practical use on his great estates. The request of my compatriot was duly transmitted to the grand master of ceremonies, and shortly thereafter a reply reached me that named the day and hour when his highness would receive us at the palace of Ras-el-Tin.

Frock coated and top hatted we drove to the palace on the day appointed, were received by the officials of the household and shown into the audience room, where his highness stood awaiting us. After a cordial greeting the khedive drew me down beside him on a small sofa and motioned to my companion to take a chair opposite us. "It gives me particular pleasure," I began, "to present Mr. K. to your highness, as he is an authority on agricultural machinery, a subject in which your highness is, I know, much interested."

"Say, khedive," exclaimed my fellow countryman, suddenly leaning forward and emphasizing every sentence by wagging his finger under the khedive's august nose, "I've got the finest little proposition in well drilling machinery that ever struck this burg, and if you don't jump at the chance to get in on the ground floor then all I've got to say is that you're throwing away the chance of your lifetime!"

The khedive, being naturally quite unaccustomed to this form of verbal assault and still more unaccustomed to having any one waggle a finger under his nose, at first drew back haughtily. Then the humor of the situation dawned upon him, and as the river of talk, which is one of the chief reliances of the trained American sales man, flowed steadily on he became interested in spite of himself. Now and then he interjected a pertinent question and ended the audience by giving the American an order for several thousand dollars' worth of American machinery, which, when I last heard of it, was giving excellent satisfaction on the royal farms.

MAINTENANCE IMPORTANT.

Provision Should Be Made to Keep Roads in Repair.

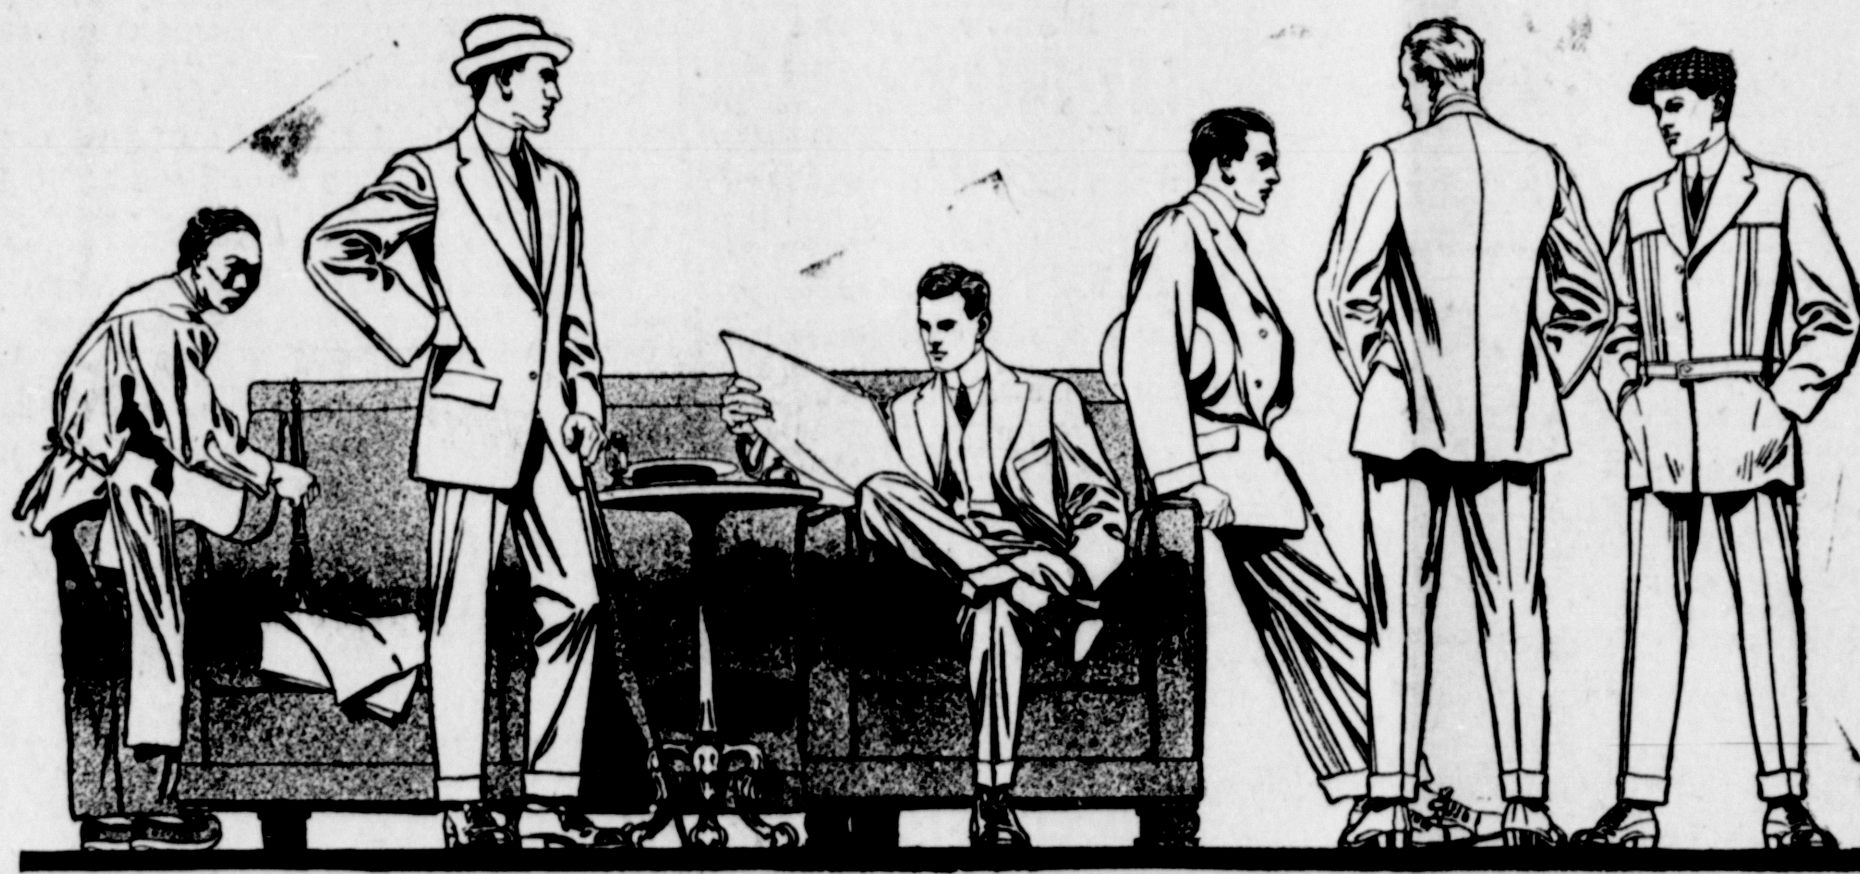

Hon. Logan Waller Page, director of the United States office of public roads, believes that there is nothing more important than maintaining roads after they are built. Commenting on this phase of road work, he said recently:

Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of maintenance in connection with the work of improving the roads. The people in nearly all the states are filled with enthusiasm for road improvement and are spending enormous sums of money in the construction of superb roads, and yet almost without exception they are making little provision to care for the roads after they are built. This is true not only in the various counties, but under many of our state highway departments.

To maintain the roads in good condition year after year requires a considerable annual outlay, but this outlay is infinitely less than the loss which must fall upon the people eventually if they allow their roads to go to utter ruin. The thing for all advocates of good roads to do is to urge continuous systematic maintenance and the setting aside every year of an amount per mile estimated by the engineer in charge to be sufficient for the proper maintenance of the road—a course which must make for economy and efficiency.

Professor Haecker of Minnesota is authority for the statement that the annual value of the dairy products of the state has increased from $7,800,000 to $59,700,000 in the past twenty-three years. And it might be added that along with this increase in the dairy business has come a large measure of prosperity for the farmers who have had a hand in its growth.
